

Alexander Wurm

Miami, FL | awurm.com

Summary

Industry analyst specialized in isolating and presenting the value of data management, analytics, and AI technologies using end-user interviews and quantitative analysis.

Experience

Nucleus Research

Principal Analyst | August 2024 – Current

- Oversee a team of research analysts covering the data management, analytics, and data science markets.
- Provide strategic guidance to data teams, IT leaders and technology vendors with aligned end-user research methods.

Senior Analyst | August 2024 - Current

- Presented market research findings for Google, Oracle, and Databricks in live sessions and webinars.
- Quoted in press releases and publications such as TechTarget, SHRM, and The Financial Post

Research Analyst | Jun 2021 – August 2024

- Published over 100 research reports to the Bloomberg terminal on the value of technology deployments.
- Worked with data teams to determine the ROI of their observed technology deployments.

Cognitive Modeling Laboratory

Research Assistant | Jan 2020 – May 2021

- Developed experimental designs using JavaScript, CSS and HTML.
 - Used hierarchical Bayesian regression in Rstudio to model individual's response times and map latent variables involved in human decision making.
-

Education

University of Florida

August 2017 – May 2021

- B.S. in Behavioral Cognitive Neuroscience & B.A. in Economics
 - GPA: 3.65/4.00, summa cum laude (Thesis: "A Model of Timing in Simple Anticipatory Decisions")
-

Analytics and Modeling Skills

- Proficient in R with experience in JavaScript, CSS, HTML, Python, SQL, Stata and SPSS
- Data analysis experience in R, Python, Alteryx, Stata, and SPSS
- Proficient in Bayesian Regression, and Hierarchical Bayesian methods